Observations... Youth Caravan Arrives In The Bay

by the Editor

Carl Marshall's death was a great loss to the legal profession of the State of Mississippi. An outstanding lawyer, a real southern gentleman, a great speaker, possessed of a keen analytical mind, who could hold the attention of any type audience. Carl Marshall's vocabulary was the envy of practically every person who knew him. He undoubtedly could have risen to great heights in the political field, yet he chose to remain on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, in Bay St. Louis and Gulfport, among his friends and the people he loved and admired. We join his many friends in extending our sincere sympathy to his bereaved family, and may they be consoled in the thought of his attainment in his profession and in the fact that he shall always be referred to as one of the greatest and most brilliant lawyers of Mississippi.

The Natural Gas Division of the City of Bay St. Louis showed a net profit at the close of business on November 30th, 1949, for the fiscal year, of $20,439.56. This is a very neat profit for the year, and we are certain if the necessary repairs are made to the lines preventing the losses from the many leaks, the next year will show even greater profits. . . . and while on the subject of city affairs . . . the Mayor and City Commissioners could render a distinct service to their people if they would make a survey of the water works in the City of Bay St. Louis. Ascertain the cost of the lines necessary to be replaced to meet the rating bureau specifications, then see if their revenue would meet the payment of the bonds to set up a waterworks system which would probably reduce our insurance rate about half of what it is at present. . . . Think about this boys and remember, the thousands of dollars paid in insurance premiums yearly, and what this saving would mean to your people. . . . and while we are pointing a few facts out to you, how about the street at the Post Office, and yes, de Montluzin Avenue, you still have to play hop-skotch to meander the first block. . . . Some few weeks ago preliminary meetings were held preparatory to the organization of a civic group whose primary interest would be to build an interest to keep our town clean. . . . Interest has lagged in the organization and we understand so little interest has been shown in the meetings that the sponsors have become lukewarm. . . . These interested parties can still put their project over if they have the endurance and patience. . . . Start as a small group and do missionary work, it will gradually grow from neighbor to neighbor. . . . The city fathers should certainly set an example and lead the way in this work. When we look at spots on the beach in the business section, where old pieces of lumber, storm debris, are still tacked up as railing, along the sidewalks, this does not make a very good impression on the visitors to our fair little city. And while we ramble on, have you ever noticed the condition of the beach at the head of St. Charles street? This is a spot, and about the only one, where visitors spend a little time on the beach—it is a mass of trash. A little cleaning would certainly do a lot of good there, and too, it would encourage more people to use it. . . . Talking of sand beaches, we think Lucien Gex has shown very definitely that sand beaches can be built without pumping them in. Some few weeks ago he erected a small sand catcher or groin, made of a few pieces of one by twelve boards, and within a short while the sand at this particular spot has built up more than 15 inches. . . . A bit more of experimenting on a larger scale by our public officials may be the answer to our prayers for the sand beaches we need so badly. . . . Boys please have the red light at the beach and the highway checked. . . . It is flipping too fast and may cause some one to be hurt. . . .

ORIGINATED IN 1938

Methodist Youth Caravans originated with an idea of Bishop Paul Kern following a visit to Germany in 1938. Bishop Kern saw how completely Hitler and the Nazis had captured the minds and hearts of German youth and had turned them to hatred and war. The Bishop then visioned American youth going from state to state spreading the Gospel of Love and Christianity throughout the nation instead of hatred. He stated this plan at the next General Conference, and the Methodist Youth Caravan was born.

Notice To Water Consumers Of The City Of Bay St. Louis

We are having a very serious situation in our water system at the present time. We are operating the three (3) WATER WELLS and PUMPS, that the City owns, twenty-four (24) hours a day. The three (3) wells are supplying more than One Million Seven Hundred Fifty Thousand (1,750,000) gallons of water every Twenty-four (24) hours. This is the capacity amount of water we are able to supply. Yet, we are continuously receiving complaints of a low water pressure, which we agree is right, but, upon investigation we find people operating water sprinklers in gardens and on lawns, day and night.

This situation is more serious than most of you may realize.

Therefore, we are requesting each and every one of you to cooperate and to conserve as much water as possible and discontinue the use of water sprinklers.

Carl Marshall Dies In Gulfport

Carl Marshall prominent attorney and former Bay St. Louis resident, died at his home at 1020 East Beach, Gulfport, at 8:30 o'clock Sunday night, June 25, following a brief illness.

Funeral services were held at Gulfport Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the body was brought to Bay St. Louis; religious services were held at Christ Episcopal Church, the Rev. George Stephenson, rector St. Peters-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church, Gulfport, officiated. Interment was in Cedar Rest cemetery in the family plot.

Mr. Marshall, who resided in Gulfport for the past four years, practiced law there since 1936. He was born in New Orleans, January 15, 1884 and came to Bay St. Louis with his parents when still a boy. He was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marshall. His father was superintendent of the Mobile and New Orleans Division of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad from 1887 to 1917.

Mr. Marshall, a former state senator from Hancock county from 1923 to 1927, was a graduate of the University of Virginia law school. He was associated with the late Judge Will T. McDonald as a law partner in the early 1900's at Bay St. Louis and was Hancock County's prosecuting attorney prior to his senatorship. He was a member of the board of directors of the Hancock Bank and was affiliated with the American, state and county bar associations.

The Mississippi Bar Association was in session at Edgewater Hotel when Mr. Marshall was taken ill. He was forced to cancel his engagement to extend the invitation to the association to hold its 1951 meeting in Biloxi.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Lillian Chapman Marshall; two sons, Chapman Marshall, Flushing, New York, and Carl Marshall, Jr., Gulfport; a daughter Carolyn Marshall, Flushing, New York; three brothers Colonel Gilbert Marshall, retired, Saugherties, New York; Donald Marshall, New Orleans, Colonel Geoffrey Marshall, Army, Maryland. He also leave several nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were English Lindsey, Gulfport, Joe Drake Arrington, of Gulfport; Dr. C. M. Shipp of Bay St. Louis; Bidwell Adam of Pass Christian; Dudley Spennis of Gulfport and Charles Moore of Biloxi.

Rotary Plans Silver Jubilee

The Rotary club of Bay St. Louis was chartered in July, 1925; and to honor this occasion, on July 5, at which time the incoming officers will be installed, a Silver Jubilee party will be given. The Rotarians from the Pass Christian Club have been invited to participate.

This night will also be ladies night; the program is well advanced and as long speeches have been ruled out, the Rotarians are urged to bring their wives or best girl along to join in this great occasion.

That Shining New Chevrolet DeLuxe Sedan, Worth Exactly $2157.29, Other Prizes Ready For Delivery When Judges Name The Winners

Help Your Favorite Now Before It Is Forever Too Late!

The climax this Saturday noon! Six and one half weeks of hard work and anxious uncertainty culminates in the closing scene promptly at the stroke of 12 o'clock noon this Saturday, July 1st, at which time the Sea Coast Echo far-famed automobile subscription contest officially ends and the most aggressive contestants will claim the magnificent prizes offered by this newspaper, headed by that beautiful new Styleline Chevrolet Sedan valued at $2157.29 and really worth more on today's market.

For all of six weeks the various contestants have been busily engaged accumulating their published totals and building reserve votes for final count. During this time the contest has gained fame that is widespread. It was hailed from the start as being the most liberal, unique and altogether attractive affair of its kind ever inaugurated in this area.

John P. Meyers, of Laurel, Miss., recently elected State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, has named Wilmer Thibaux, of Bay St. Louis, as District Deputy of the Coast District, which includes the councils of the order in Pascagoula, Biloxi, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis. Mr. Thibaux is a merchant of Bay St. Louis, and served as Grand Knight of Pere Leduc Council of Bay St. Louis for two terms. He is also Faithful Comptroller of the Brother Peter Fourth Degree Assembly of Gulfport and Bay St. Louis.

An Open Letter To The Contestants

It has been a genuine pleasure to work with such a fine group of enterprising contestants in the big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest, now in its final stages and which comes to an official close this Saturday noon July 1st.

All participants have shown a commendable spirit of sportsmanship. Their most excellent results achieved, individually and collectively, are accomplishments showing rare ability and we feel sure the experience gained during the past few weeks will prove of inestimable value in years to come.

We only wish it were possible to award a beautiful new automobile to each and every active contestant, but to do so, of course, would eliminate that vital element of competition that makes any race.

The contest will soon be over. To the winners, congratulations! To those who must of necessity accept secondary awards, we can truthfully say they "fought the good fight" for highest honors, and special commendations are due those who are game to the finish.

Most sincerely,
The Sea Coast Echo
Bill Gupion
Contest Manager.

With the race now in its final stage, contestants are all a-tingle with high hopes and ambition to win first honors and now the effort and diligence shown each during the past few weeks will be crowned by an avalanche of subscriptions and accompanying votes that is sure to bring thousands of "fans" to their feet, rooting excitedly for their own particular favorite.

WHO WILL WIN THE CHEVROLET

Are YOU going to be the one to finish triumphantly with an overwhelming number of votes, or are you going to be self-satisfied at this stage of the game and see the efforts of these many strenuous weeks go to waste and the choicest awards of this contest wrested from your grasp by some more enterprising competitor?

Success in an affair of this kind sometimes depends upon keen judgment and timely action. Throughout all history, people possessing that faculty of sensing opportunity when they see it—and grasping it at the right moment—seem to acquire the best things in life, while those who are timid and afraid stand back and talk later about what they might have done. The saddest words of tongue and pen, to quote a classic, are, "it might have been."

Determination to win, coupled with relentless activity during the short remaining time, can make any one of the various leaders a major prize winner, but to relax now is suicidal to success.

What is to be done MUST be done NOW, he who hesitates is lost! To temporize simply means letting some rival forge ahead and ride away in the car that could have been yours.

The end is but a few hours away but you can trust your own judgment as to your competitors—based on facts and observations—there is time yet to stem the tide of defeat and turn it to sweeping victory.

Hotel Group Marks 25 Year

July 1st marks the beginning of the twenty-fifth year of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Hotel Association which is composed of twelve hotels covering the Coast from Bay St. Louis to Pascagoula.

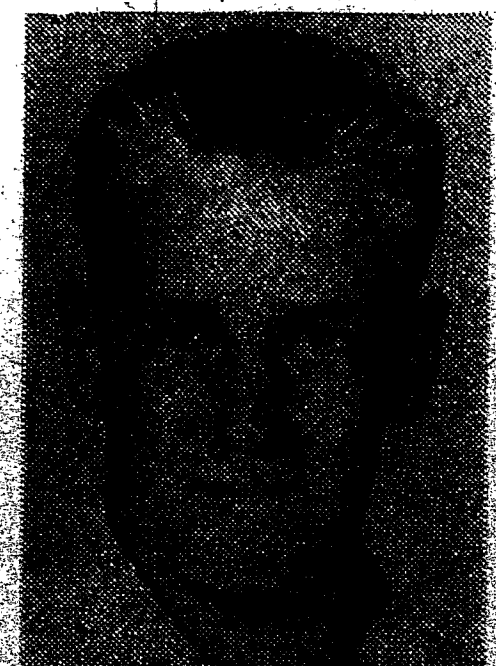

As a stunt to create interest, to bring to the attention of the citizen of the different communities the amount of money spent on the pay rolls of the hotels, and in celebration of the Silver Anniversary, all employees will be paid in shiny new silver dollars. Arrangements have been made through the banks to provide $1,000,000.00 in new coins to cover the July payroll. On June 29, the first shipment will be made by armored car to Gulfport where it will be dispensed; and on July 13 the other half will be delivered. This money will be given to the employees in tarnish free bags, 2000 of which were purchased by the association.

So, if you run across a few shiny new cartwheels in your till, you will know from what source they came.

ECHO CONTESTANTS

Participants in the Subscription contest are requested to call in person at this office and verify our count of their individual vote total to date with campaign manager before these figures are turned over to official contest judges for final count—otherwise our figures, which have been carefully checked, shall be considered correct.

This writer felt the shock of the death of Carl Marshall in common with all members of the bar of the State, of which he was a brilliant member, and with citizens from Jackson to the Mississippi Coast who have had his distinguished services and sat under the spell of his oratory. Their deep sympathy goes out to his wife and children, and relatives elsewhere.

Mr. Marshall took law degrees at the great University of Virginia, University of Louisiana and Tulane. He was highly educated, a careful learned and brilliant lawyer and had an extensive and lucrative practice. He was a consummate scholar, and exact purist in English, scholarly, cultured and eloquent. He was sought for after dinner speeches which always were full of wit and wisdom. There was no more courteous gentleman anywhere nor more faithful exponent of the Southern tradition.

We shall not see his like again. He was an influential member of State Senate. At one time this writer urged him to offer for the United States Senate and for Congress, where his common sense, deep learning, political acumen and high legal attainments would have been readily appraised and secured him assignments on the judiciary and other important committees, and his influence soon felt.

He resided the most of his life at Bay St. Louis, whence came another learned, eloquent, dynamic lawyer, forceful speaker and member of Congress, the late Eaton J. Bowers, whose like also we shall not see again.

So, they come, flourish, and pass away, leaving indelible footprints in the sands of time.

It is with a sad heart that we have to chronicle in this way the death of our friend, Carl Marshall, because of which we express the deep sympathy of the bar and this community to his family, relatives and friends.

A PASSING LANDMARK

The sale of the lands of the H. Weston Lumber Company, the International Paper Company, will mark the passing of one of the landmarks of Hancock County. For more than three quarters of a century the name of Weston has been synonymous with lumber and timber in this section. Their vast holdings in this and Pearl River County kept their operations at Logtown a beehive of industry.

The H. Weston Lumber Company from its inception was a family affair composed of the Weston and Otis families, built not only as a great industrial enterprise, but also built on the principles of the intellectual development of the boys and girls of the families in their employ. The H. Weston Lumber Company until the cessation of their sawmill operations sponsored the higher education of many of the young people of Logtown, and today many can point with pride to their accomplishments. They should have had the satisfaction and feeling that their was not a mere race for gold in the field of industry, but one which engendered a spirit of loyalty, between employer and employees, with no equal.

Men spent their lifetime in the employ of this company. Its owners were in the capacity of a parent to many of them. Their life's earning came from this source, and the urge to save for leaner days instilled into their minds, produced results which today are still extant.

They did a great work for Hancock County, and through their activities welded together a tremendous influence for good.

Second Granger Bill

LAST WEEK THIS column touched briefly on the developing fight to divorce the Farm Bureau Federation and other private organizations from financial participation in the agricultural extension service as a result of a bill introduced by Congressman Walter K. Granger of Utah.

New Congressman Granger has introduced a new bill which seeks to eliminate some of the objectionable features of his first measure insofar as the department of agriculture and some other organizations are concerned, and, at the same time, preserve the cooperative and home rule features of the present law governing the extension service.

The agricultural extension service, created by the Smith-Lever act of 1914, provides for the distribution of federal funds to the various states on a basis of farm population, if the states, by direct appropriation or county participation through the land grant colleges, or by grants of money from private sources, match federal funds. It is this latter clause the Granger bill seeks to eliminate. Congressman Granger, a farmer and stockman, was for several years a member of the board of trustees of the Utah state agricultural college.

For several years there has been a growing tension and jealousy of the Farm Bureau Federation. In about 11 states this organization has participated in financial operation of the extension service. The charge has been made that because of this financial interest of the farm bureau, it has been given preferential treatment by county agents, home economics agents and other employees of the extension service. The farm bureau denies this charge.

However, the agriculture department believes that since federal money is involved, matching funds from the various states should come wholly from either state, county or some other unit of government, and not from any private organization.

Provides Funds

The states where the farm bureau and other private organizations participate include Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, New York, Rhode Island, Tennessee and West Virginia. In the other 37 states the money comes from public appropriations—federal, state and county.

In only five states, however, are funds provided by the farm bureau in large amounts. For instance, in the current year the farm bureau financial participation in the extension service in Illinois was approximately $980,000; in Iowa, $329,000; in Kansas, $212,000; in New York, $209,000; and in Missouri, $40,000.

A Public Service

In Illinois for the current fiscal year, the extension service cost approximately $2,500,000. This sum, the Farm Bureau provided $980,000, the federal government approximately $950,000, and the state and other local subdivisions of government approximately $562,000. The department of agriculture feels the extension service is a public service, and should be conducted wholly as a public service, and should not be tied in financially or affiliated with any organized group which has a private interest. While the Farm Bureau denies that it has received any "preferential" treatment, other farm organizations point out that it is only natural for a county agent or other employees to feel more kindly toward an organization that is paying a part of his salary.

Smith Declaration

A breath of clean, fresh air has somewhat cleared the fetid atmosphere in the senate. It came in the form of a ringing challenge from the nation's only woman senator, Margaret Chase Smith, Republican of Maine. She called it a "declaration of conscience."

In it she chastised the leaders of both the Democratic and Republican parties, but more particularly, she pilloried the members of her own party for witch-hunting, smearing, character assassination and "for using the senate as a publicity platform for irresponsible sensationalism, for making the senate a rendezvous for gossip."

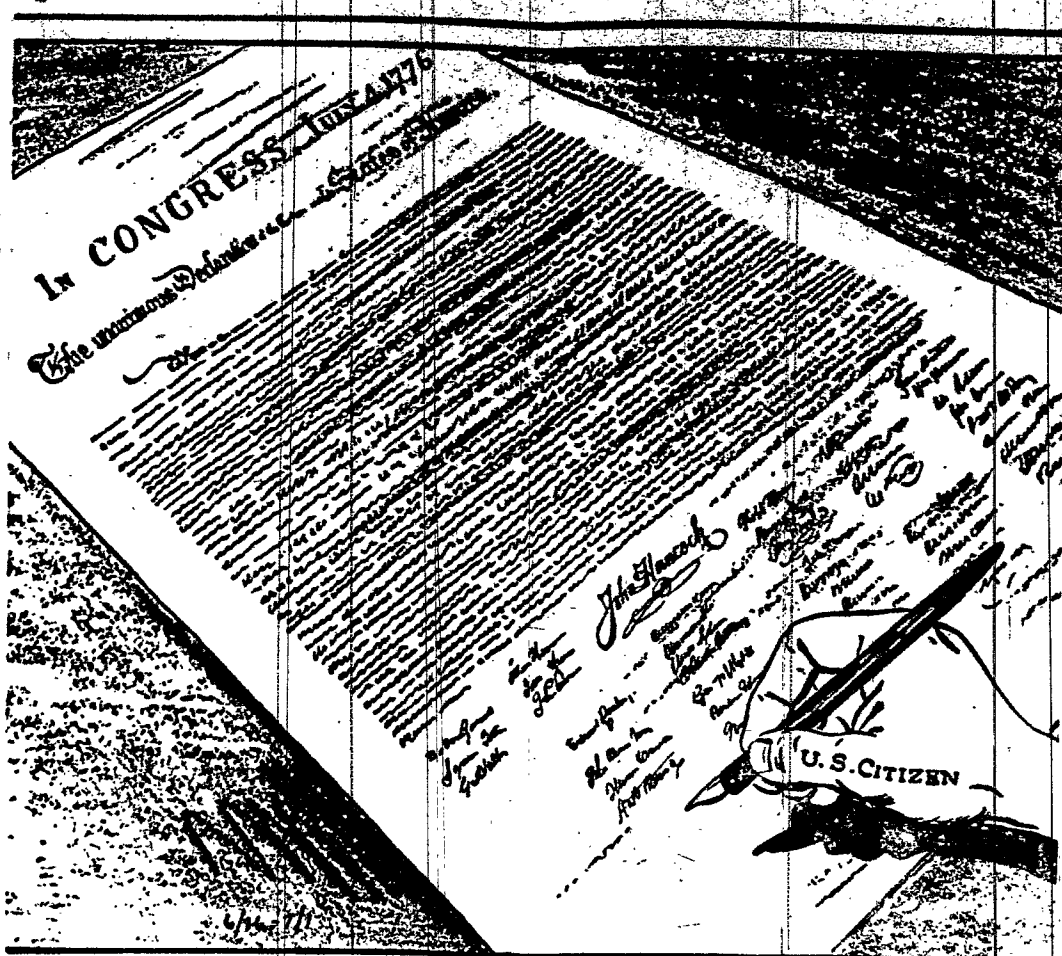

GOP Leaders Silent

Her barbs were aimed at Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Republican, of Wisconsin, for "playing directly into the communist design of confuse, divide and conquer." She was joined by Senators Tobey of New Hampshire, Aiken, of Vermont, Morse, of Oregon, Ives, of New York, Tyne, of Minnesota, and Hendrickson of New Jersey. She was given an ovation by members of the senate when she had completed her speech.

DON'T FORGET

Time to Reaffirm Our Beliefs

Little Theatre Players Give Super Performance

Actors in the Pay St. Louis Little Theatre production, "Three Men on a Horse," played to a capacity house in their three night performance of Holm and Abbott's three act comedy last week.

Mary, Canon Bell did a superb job in directing the play. She was well aware of the fact that she had material to train; and she proceeded to develop it.

John Bell, who in the play, wrote Mother's Day verses, and June Meyer, as Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge though caught in the undertow of adverse circumstances, still furnished a major portion of laughs for the audience. They kept everyone wishing they had more of them than they were contracted for.

The three men on a horse, John Seafide and Dennis Tonkel, of Bay St. Louis, and Roland Hodges of Pass Christian, were typical men who follow the races; they provided some good entertainment and furnished enough laughs for everybody.

Don McCulloch as John Bell's bete noir and "brother-in-law" was definitely not on the best terms with Bell, because he did not get tips on the horses. He was good throughout the play.

Johanne Craft, seasoned timber and an "Oscar" winner, played a new role in "Three Men on a Horse," that of a comedian. She was equal to it and did not miss a trick. Paul Tourne as the bar tender and George Fletcher as Moses were never found wanting during the entire three acts and were better than amateurs.

Dr. H. M. Keefe as Mr. Carver, purchaser of Mr. Trowbridge's verses, was one of the last characters to appear on the stage, his part was a minor one; he did a major job in portraying his character. He played right up to his audience.

Hugger Muggger in the Automat Cleared Up by a Patient Cop

By BILLY ROSE

As a burglar, I've done a considerable amount of hanging around police stations lately, and I've made a highly interesting discovery—the average New York detective is plenty smart, and considering how few of them there are, gets plenty of results.

To give you an idea of what the ordinary cop can do once he gets going, let me tell you the classic story of Detective Patty MacVeigh and how he solved the case usually referred to as "Hugger Muggger in the Automat."

One morning in August, 1933, two people died suddenly and within a few minutes of each other in the nickel-in-the-slot restaurant at Broadway and 104th street. One was a dowdy old dame named Lillian Rosenfeld, keeled over in the restaurant's mezzanine, and the other, a middle-aged garageman named Harry Jelinek, was found outside the little boys' room in the basement. The coroner certified that both deaths were caused by a powerful dose of cyanide of potassium.

Was it a case of double murder? Was it double suicide? Or was it murder and suicide?

Detective Patty MacVeigh was handed this sizzling spud, and went about cooling it off not like a Sherlock Holmes but like an ordinary policeman. He started by questioning where the victims had lived, inched everyone in the neighborhoods by-inched the tenement flats they had called their homes; jig-sawed together a lot of biographical bits and pieces, and came up with a so simple that no one connected with the case could imagine why it hadn't been thought of right away.

Jelinek's past was reconstructed easily enough. Starting as a helper in a garage, he had managed to save enough to buy his own business and his garage had prospered until the depression hit it. When things got tough, he borrowed $1500 from a bank, and when he couldn't

Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

DREW PEARSON

General Donovan's Interview

SENATOR MCCARTHY and Bob Howard of the Scripps-Howard newspapers didn't know it, but General "Wild Bill" Donovan, famed wartime chief of OSS, let them down on the Amerasia stolen documents case.

General Donovan, a fellow Republican, was ballyhoosed as backing up the McCarthy-Scripps-Howard charges. When interviewed by a senate committee shortly before leaving for Europe, however, he talked much more like Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, who decries McCarthy extremism.

In fact, Gen. Donovan inferentially criticized his own OSS investigator, Frank Bielaski for illegally raiding the Emment-Lansing apartment. As a result of these illegal raids, the justice department could not prosecute.

Here is exactly what the senate investigators reported to the committee after their interview with Donovan at his New York apartment.

"General Donovan asked if we had talked with Archibald Van Buren (his wartime deputy), and when we replied in the affirmative, he indicated that his information was no more than that which Van Buren probably gave us."

"General Donovan discussed his belief at the time that 'John Doe' warrants should have been obtained and statements under oath gotten from the principals," the investigators report continues. "He indicated that he felt that the matter was incorrectly handled, because when any agency conducts an investigation, the matter does not remain confidential and opportunity to cover up arises."

"General Donovan mentioned that in discussing the matter with Fred Lyon (of the state department), he asked if the state department had any idea who might have been responsible for this material (secret documents) emanating from the state department. When he pressed Mr. Lyon for some suggestions or suspicions, Mr. Lyon suggested that it might have been John Carter Vincent. General Donovan then queried us as to whether Vincent did not have a wife who was a Communist."

Throughout the interview, Donovan made it clear he had no new evidence but that his attitude was that of a Margaret Chase Smith Republican who didn't relish unfair accusations.

Continuing, the investigators' report declares: "Donovan suggested that we should see Pat Hurley (former ambassador to China). Shortly after the discovery of the Amerasia case, General Donovan went to London and met Pat Hurley at the airport there. Hurley being on his way to Moscow and China, Donovan told Hurley what Fred Lyon had said about Vincent because he knew that Hurley thought Vincent was 'his boy.'"

That was about all Donovan had to say. In fact, he seemed in a hurry to get off to Europe.

Trygve Lie and Truman

Here is the inside story of what happened when U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie met with President Truman and Secretary Acheson following Lie's return from Moscow.

Lie first reported on the strong desire for peace which he found everywhere from Moscow to Washington, then asked the President to consider sending Acheson to a special meeting of the United Nations security council in Geneva this summer, a meeting which he said was imperative to keep the United Nations from collapsing.

Mr. Truman's reaction was immediate. He promptly said he could do no such thing; that it would be a cruel hoax to play on the American people when there is absolutely no chance of agreement with Russia.

The only thing Russia understands, the President argued, is force, and the West is going to build up its own force, until Russia realizes the democracies mean business. After that, perhaps a meeting with Russia might produce some good.

As it is now, Truman told the U. N. secretary general, Russia is boycotting the United Nations because it won't seat Communist China—just like a little boy who says he won't play in the game unless he can be captain of the team.

Dedicate John M. Parker Memorial Park In Pass.

Saturday night, the softball fans of the neighboring communities witnessed the dedication of the John M. Parker Memorial Park. The park's improvements, making it one of the finest along the entire Gulf Coast, were made possible largely by a trust fund left by the late Governor of Louisiana, Hon. John Parker. Gov. Parker, after retirement, made his home and spent his last days in Pass Christian.

Speakers at the ceremonies were Judge Walter B. Hamlin, Civil Court Judge of New Orleans, Mayor Francis J. Hursey accepted the park on behalf of the city.

C. Randall Jones, attorney, was master of ceremonies, and Rev. W. S. Allen gave the invocation and benediction.

The league presented bronze plaques in appreciation for the park, in contributing to the park, to John M. Parker, Jr., Thomas A. Parker and Jon Saussey, who accepted on behalf of her mother, Mrs. Virginia Parker Saussey.

The Pass Christian Softball League, which has now grown to eight teams, including Bay St. Louis, Long Beach, Pineville and Delisle, began five or six years ago when a few of the towns' fathers played against their sons every Sunday afternoon on the ball green at the public school.

The game then was baseball with the odds victorious every Sunday. After suffering quite a few whalloppings the sons challenged their fathers to a game of softball declaring they could beat them in that. The following Sunday the baseball was put aside and the softball game came into its own won that game, too. Among the in the Pass. Incidentally, the dad's fathers who started the ball rolling were Thomas McDonald, J. J. Yarborough, Tony Ladner, Ernest I. Cox, and quite a few others, all of whose efforts and time helped contribute to the league as it is today.

In the two games played Saturday night Nesbitt's of Gulfport, defeated Al's Bar 5-1, and Reeds Hardware defeated Jax, of Gulfport, 2-1.

"Chicken Feed" Pays Off In Cash

Otho Rester really has some "chicken feed."

Mr. Rester, who lives in Leetown, uses some 18,900 pounds of chicken feed to raise his crop, but in the end this feed pays off in a cash dividend. He is averaging $400 to $500 per month clear on poultry.

On May 16, 1950, Mr. Rester purchased 2040 chicks which were just a week or so old, and at the age of seven weeks, they average from one and a half to one and three quarter pounds each. Where most people would lose a great number of baby chicks, Mr. Rester only lost 10.

This enterprising farmer does not devote all of his time to poultry raising, as he has 200 acres in cultivation; he plans to convert his total 340 acres into pastures. Then, too, he has 35 acres in pecans and 60 acres in tung trees, all of which mean a profit to him when properly cared for.

SPARE TIME IS PROFITABLE

The time that he devotes to raising his chickens, Mr. Rester said, is time that most farmers would ordinarily lose; these spare moments have been properly utilized to help bring a greater profit to his farming.

A chicken requires three pounds of feed to make one pound of meat; and a bird, Mr. Rester added, should weigh three pounds or more before it is put on the market. The secret of raising chickens is to have a good roof and a dry house. Mr. Rester should know as he seems to be successful in getting all of his chicks to live to a marketable size. Lime should be put on the floor every time a litter is added; he changes his litter once a year.

LABOR ELIMINATED

What with new and modern equipment appearing to help laborers in all fields, Mr. Rester stated that most of the labor is eliminated in the raising of poultry. He estimated that it takes one hour of labor a day per house of 2000 chickens.

Chickens are not Mr. Rester's only source of income—he has averaged over $1000 a month since January 1, 1950, on gross sales on milk. In all he has 65 head of dairy cattle including heifers; he is now milking 38 cows.

Mr. Rester uses the fertilizer from his poultry and dairy born for the tung and pecan trees. Last year he sold $2000 of pecans.

Mr. Rester, who is chairman of the Hancock County Soil Conservation commission, follows a well planned conservation program. His summer pasture is made up of Bahia grass, sericea lespedeza, alyce clover and kudzu; his winter pasture contains oats, crimson and white dutch clover. He has been chairman since the district was organized four years ago.

This land, that is part of the old homestead where he was born, has been converted into a profitable farm for Mr. Rester. It has undergone a period of transformation from the old farming methods to a new completely mechanical farm. The days of all hand labor with, in many cases, a sore back, the only thing resulting from it, have disappeared from this farm. No, Mr. Rester has proved that a well planned conservation practice, a little initiative and know how and the will to do, can be profitable for the farmer who has all of these qualifications.

Three stock ponds supplied with government fish are located on the farm; Mr. Rester's son recently caught a three pound trout from one of these ponds.

Mr. and Mrs. Rester have four daughters and three sons; two of whom are still at home.

S.J.A. Campers Motor To Gulfport For Outing

Campers at St. Joseph Academy motored to Gulfport recently for an all day outing on the "Fairy Queen" which took them to Ship Island. Surf bathing was one of the main features of entertainment.

During this first week of camp Miss Sybil Koeniger, directress, conducted several evenings of games and other activities around campfires.

The campers are divided into groups called Sea Gulls, Crickets and Pelicans; these names were given to the boats presented to each group. The leader of each group named the group boat and, with a lighted candle, made a wish, launching the boat into the water at the same time.

Competitive games are played, and daily prizes are given; individual and group awards are made weekly. Those with the highest number of points will compete for the trophies at the end of camp.

Daily activities include tennis, table tennis, badminton, darts, horseshoes, archery and swimming. Swimming lessons are given by an authorized instructor.

DON'T FORGET

Don't forget, the Church Fair for Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic church will be held this Saturday, July 1, and Sunday July 2, on the Stanislaus Back school grounds.

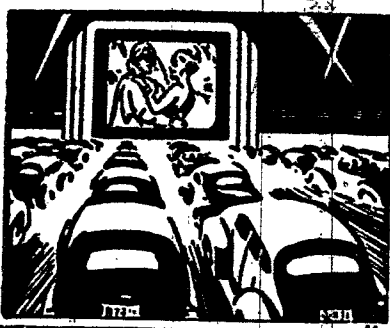

Miss Lorraine Lott is in Clearwater, Fla., visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Burke, and other relatives.

Miss Lott was a bridesmaid in the wedding of her cousin, Miss Geraldine Anne Burke, which took place June 17 in the Saint Cecilia Catholic Church, Clearwater, Fla. Miss Burke was married to Mr. Roger Bouchard, also of Clearwater. She is the daughter of the Ralph Burkes, former residents of Kiln.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fuente, and her daughter, Betty Jean, of Jackson, Mississippi, have gone home after spending a while in the home of Mrs. Fuente's brother Mr. Lander Nacaise.

Sister Barbara Organizes C. Y. O.

Under the direction of Sister Barbara Ann, a Catholic Youth Organization was formed in this parish at the beginning of the summer for the teen-agers.

The officers elected were Andy Lott, president; Carolyn Curet, vice-president; Shirley Neacise, treasurer; and Larry Ladner, secretary.

Since its organization, the C. Y. O. has been the center of many activities, including regular meetings every Wednesday night at the recreation hall across from the church, square dances after the business meetings, and a hay ride to Fenton where a wiener roast was enjoyed.

The following boys and girls have joined the C. Y. O.: Bobby Bilbo, Josie Bennett, Flora Mae Cameron, Claire Cameron, Carolyn Curet, Leroy Cuevas, A. J. Cuevas, Grissy Cuevas, Huey Curet, Roy Cuevas, L. J. Cuevas, Gloria Deschamps, Thomas Fave, Rita Fave, Billy Fae Glass, Yvonne Garriga, Norma Jean Garriga, Huey Henley, Larry Koenen, Gloria Lacoste, Harris Ladner, Donald Ladner, Ferill Ladner, Wenton Ladner, Larry Ladner, Emmett Ladner, Pat Ladner, Andy Lott, Seymour Lacoste, Beverly Jean Mauffray, Betty Jean Moran, Inez Moran, Betty Maud Moran, Huey Moran, Edgar Moran, Oswald Moran, Jason Mauffray, Shirley Jean Neacise, Darling Normand, Jeannette North, Joyce Holden, Vernon Peterson, Margie Stiglett, O. J. Shiyou, Betty Jean Trevira, and Rita Trevira.

Andy Lott accompanied his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elus Burk, and children to Lake Charles, La., where they are visiting in the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Wilsin Morris.

Last Tuesday Don Haas left for Miami, Fla., where he will spend about three weeks visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Haas, Jr.

Huey Moran has returned from the Campbell Clinic in Memphis, where he underwent an operation on his foot. He was gone for several weeks, and is now recuperating nicely.

Last week Father Fidelis Becker came back from Silver Springs, Maryland, where he was on retreat.

J. V. "Red" Dambrino has returned from the Veterans' Hospital in Memphis, where he was sent following an automobile accident, last October, in which he was severely injured. It was thought for some time that he was completely paralyzed from his waist down, but now he seems to be slowly regaining the use of his limbs. With the aid of braces, he can walk a little, and can almost take care of himself.

Everybody hopes that "Red" will recover completely in time.

He is at home now with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Neacise, Jr., in whose home his grandmother, Mrs. Alphonsine Ladner, is also visiting. Mrs. Ladner, who has also been seriously ill in Bay St. Louis for some time, is somewhat better now.

It was almost certain that Bay St. Louis was to get an electric car line. The mayor and Aldermen were to meet and vote on an Ordinance for the start of such a line. Rev. Over this small marble slab was cemented a box containing a parchment with the details of the ceremony on it and signed by members of the church board; another with the name of the Pope, the President of the United States, the Governor of Mississippi and the Mayor of Bay St. Louis; a copy of the "New Orleans Picayune" of October 4, 1948; a copy of the "Sea Coast Echo" of October 3, 1948; a copy of the "Gulf Coast Progress" of October 3, 1948; current coins and a few rare coins.

The marriage of Mr. Edward F. Spori of this city, to Miss Catherine Virginia Reilly of New Orleans, was celebrated at the Jesuits church in October 1948. Hon. John K. Edwards of Bay St. Louis was best man and Miss Ellen McDermott, maid of honor.

Holding The Bag

Recent figures published by the Tax Foundation and the Tax Institute show that the total debt of the 48 states adds up to $4 billion; four years ago the states owed less than $2.5 billion.

Much of this increase in state debt is due to the fact that it now takes more money to run a state, a county or a city. Inflation brought on by the Federal Government's gross extravagance, as it has chiseled away at the purchasing value of the dollar, multiplies the cost of maintaining local government. The Federal Government also takes such a big tax bite that the state, short on revenue sources, frequently can't make ends meet.

And after the Federal and State Governments get through taxing, it's thin pickings for the local community, which has to satisfy itself with crumbs that fall from the table or scratch at the bottom of the barrel.

Under this double squeeze by the State and Federal Governments, communities become desperate. They are without funds to make needed local improvements. Financially crippled, they are forced to trot to the state capital or run to Washington to get relief.

They become beholden to Big Government.

This is not a wholesome condition, for it tends to destroy the power and influence of local government and creates an almighty centralized and remote government in Washington.

The strength of the Republic lies in the strength and solvency of local government. If local government becomes impoverished and impotent at the grassroots the country becomes weak and collapsible.

Only a ground swell of an aroused public opinion, springing from the people, can halt this federal taxing-spending spree. The people alone can prevail upon their Senators and Representatives to cut taxes and quit spending. If the Federal Government's taxing and spending are not stopped, we're locally sunk.

The people should have the freedom to spend their own money without having to beg Uncle Sam for it. They should not have to run to Washington to get what's coming to them. They should not be left holding the bag.

Whitworth Puts Stress on Work For Secretaries

In making public its plan for the session 1950-51 Whitworth College announces that it will place added emphasis on its work in Commerce and Secretarial Science.

The department will be re-equipped and redecorated and all courses will be in line with a study and masters degree thesis made and prepared by the head of the department, Miss Edith Lott.

In making the study and preparing the curriculum in secretarial science, Miss Lott consulted, and was advised by outstanding business executives in Memphis, Jackson and New Orleans, men of experience who spoke freely of what they needed and wanted in their own office organization.

Two programs of study will be offered. Each on the college level and each carrying full credit toward college graduation.

One program is an intensive one year course emphasizing accounting, typing, shorthand, office procedure, secretarial practice business correspondence, business law, economics and psychology.

The second program, designed for those wishing to prepare for the better secretarial science leads to graduation with a diploma and title of associate in science.

During the summer new equipment will be installed in the department and the interior will be redecorated. College President Daniel states that plans for the department will keep in line with the instructional level of similar departments of the best known schools of the country.

"What Do You Mean—Only ONE True Church?"

Non-Catholics often resent the claim that the Catholic Church alone is the true Church of Christ.

"You Catholics," some of them say, "have a lot of nerve." The Church is universal. Anybody can belong to it who accepts Christ as his personal Savior and models his life after Christ's teaching. We can be members of the true Church without being Catholics."

Many who feel this way about it are, of course, sincere and devout people. And it is not our intention to challenge the various shades of Christian thought which they represent. We do ask them, however, to understand that the Catholic claim is not a matter of arrogance or intolerance—but of the deepest religious conviction.

Nearly all Christians agree that there can be only one true Church. Yet there are hundreds of different denominations—some of them miles apart in what they teach—all claiming to be the true Church. Certainly all of them cannot be right...in fact, only ONE can.

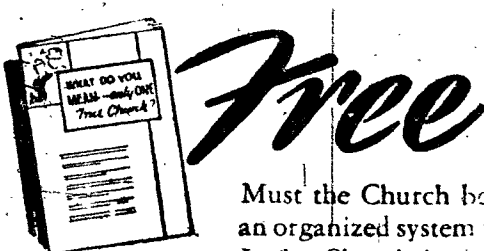

But which one? How can we identify it?

The Son of God made Himself recognizable to men by coming upon the earth with a body and soul like ours. It was in His physical body that He died for our redemption. Having thus so carefully revealed Himself to the people of His own time, would He not make equally sure that future generations should also know Him?

Catholics believe that the Savior did so, through the Church...the Church which is "able at all times to save those who came to God through Him." The Church is, therefore, not merely a body of people believing in Christ...but the Body appointed by Christ Himself to continue His mission of redemption.

"He who hears you," the Savior said, "hears Me." For Catholics, this means that when the Church speaks it is Christ speaking. When the Church offers prayer and sacrifice and forgiveness of sins, it is Christ's prayer and sacrifice and forgiveness of sins. The Church, as Catholics see it, is Christ living in the world today!

You can't pull trees out of a hat

Maybe you can pull a rabbit out of a hat, but it takes time to grow a tree. Nature provides the magic. When forests are protected from fire and harvested wisely, new trees continue to sprout and grow. A well-managed forest will produce trees for use forever. We can grow trees without being magicians, but we must be careful with fire in the woods to Keep America Green.

Prisoner of War Checks for Mississippi Vets . . . Some Day

Every day a group of former prisoners of war troop to their mail boxes in the hope that the long anticipated check from the War Claims Commission will be there for them. These are the men who spent long and weary hours in German and Japanese prison camps during World War Two and who have filed claims for the $1 a day subsistence allowance that Congress has provided.

Every day five adjudicators trudge to the War Claims Commission office in Washington and begin to review and allow or disallow some of the more than 125 thousand claims that have been received since February 14, 1950. At the close of the day 50 more claims have been processed and perhaps 50 more checks were mailed out. Also perhaps 50 more claims have been received by the War Claims Commission during the course of the same day. It is sort of like the old story of the frog in the well.

According to Bob De Kay, State Veterans Affairs Commissioner for Mississippi, two years may pass until all of the former prisoners of war receive their checks. "With 125 thousand claims filed, the War Claims Commission has a total staff of less than 60 persons to do all of its work. Five adjudicators only actually process the claims. Claims are processed in order in which received. By June 30, 1950 it is estimated that only 5 thousand prisoners of war claims will have been paid."

It appears therefore that there may still be a long delay before all the former prisoners of war receive their $1 a day.

Four Miss. Women Begin Their Internship

Four Mississippi women are nearing the day when they will become doctors in this state as a result of the Mississippi State medical education loan program.

Completing four years of medical schooling this June are: Dr. Virginia Nash Apter, of Biloxi; Dr. Nina Bess Goss, of Jackson; Dr. Rozelle Hahn, of Columbus; and Dr. Virginia Stansel, of Ruleville.

Dr. Virginia Nash Apter, of Biloxi, is a native of Tupelo, attended Biloxi High School, and completed premedical training at Harrison Stone-Jackson Junior College and Tulane University. She received the degree of Doctor of Medicine at Tulane University School of Medicine this June and will enter internship within the next few days at Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Connecticut.

Dr. Nina Bess Goss, of Jackson, was born in Brookhaven, attended Jackson Public schools, and completed premedical courses at Millsaps, receiving her Bachelor of Science degree there in May of 1946. Dr. Goss has just completed four years of medical schooling at Tulane University School of Medicine and begins internship this July at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Rozelle Hahn, native and resident of Columbus, Mississippi, attended Columbus Public schools and completed premedical courses at Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus. Her Bachelor of Science degree was conferred by MSCW in May, 1945. Dr. Hahn received the first two years of her medical training at the University of Mississippi School of Medicine at Oxford. Her Doctor of Medicine degree was conferred this June by the University of Virginia Department of Medicine, Charlottesville, Virginia. Dr. Hahn is now entering internship at the University of Virginia Hospital.

Dr. Virginia Stansel Stacy, native and resident of Ruleville, attended Ruleville Public schools and was granted the Bachelor of Arts degree by Mississippi State College for women, completing premedical courses there. Dr. Stacy was enrolled at the University of Mississippi School of Medicine for her first two years of professional studies and was recently graduated from the University of Tennessee Medical College. She is entering internship at Jefferson-Hillman Hospital, Birmingham, Alabama.

The State medical education loan program was designed to obtain more doctors for Mississippi, especially in the rural areas. Loans are available to men and women alike, who are willing to sign a state contract obligating them to practice in the State of Mississippi under certain regulations prescribed by the legislature or through the administering agency, as designated in the legislation, the State Medical Education Board.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Stear Clear of Poison Ivy

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

On your Fourth of July picnic or fishing trip — or on any other outing — be on the look out for poison ivy and stay clear of it.

One or more kinds of poison ivy grow in every part of the United States. So, wherever you go, it might spoil your vacation, if you aren't careful and on the watch.

Children are some of the chief sufferers of ivy poisoning. It affects them and other victims with severe skin inflammation and water blisters.

"Leaves three, let it be," is an old saying that holds true. All forms of the poison ivy have three leaflets attached to one stem.

The leaves are shiny deep green in summer and turn reddish in the fall. Some are smooth-edged, tapering to a point; some have indented edges, others resemble oakleaves.

The plant thrives in deep woods or in dry soil on sunny hillside. It may be a woods vine climbing up a tree or over a fence, or a trailing shrub mostly on the ground, or an erect woody shrub. Often it grows with other vines or shrubs and escapes notice.

If you are an unlucky victim of ivy poisoning, consult the county department or your doctor for proper diagnosis and treatment to control it and keep it from spreading.

VACATION MILK

On your summer vacation, and other times you may find it necessary to buy "raw" milk from local farms. This milk can be easily pasteurized in a double boiler in any home kitchen. If properly done, the milk will not have a cooked or scorched flavor and the milk will not lose any of its nutritive value.

For home pasteurization a thermometer is essential. Hardware stores, dairy supply companies or local plants sell floating dairy thermometers. These are most convenient for the pasteurizing job, but any thermometer which can be put into the milk may be used.

For quick pasteurization, pour milk in the upper part of the double boiler. Put in the clean thermometer. When it registers to 160 degrees Fahrenheit, count off 15 seconds and then pour off the hot water in the lower part of the boiler. Replace it with cold water until milk has cooled.

Ice in the water hastens the cooling. When cool, pour milk into clean bottles which have been sterilized in boiling water, cover with metal caps or aluminum foil and place in refrigerator.

Another process is to heat the milk at 143 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes, then cool and pour in bottles. The important point to remember for safety is that all the milk must be heated at not less than the specified temperature for the recommended time.

If you want to pasteurize larger amounts of milk, put the raw milk in clean sterile canning jars. Leave about three-fourths inch headspace at the top of the jars for expansion in heating. Seal the jars and put them in a water-bath canner.

Urge Recent Graduates To Contact Sergeant

The graduates of Hancock County High schools are urged to contact their local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Sergeant in order to find out about the Army's new Career Guidance Program according to a statement made this week by Sgt. B. B. Moore.

Never before has a young man of 17 and 18 years old been faced with such a wealth of opportunity as that offered by the U. S. Army. Captain Bennett also stated that a young man with a high school education can pick his school before enlisting in the Army from over fifty technical schools.

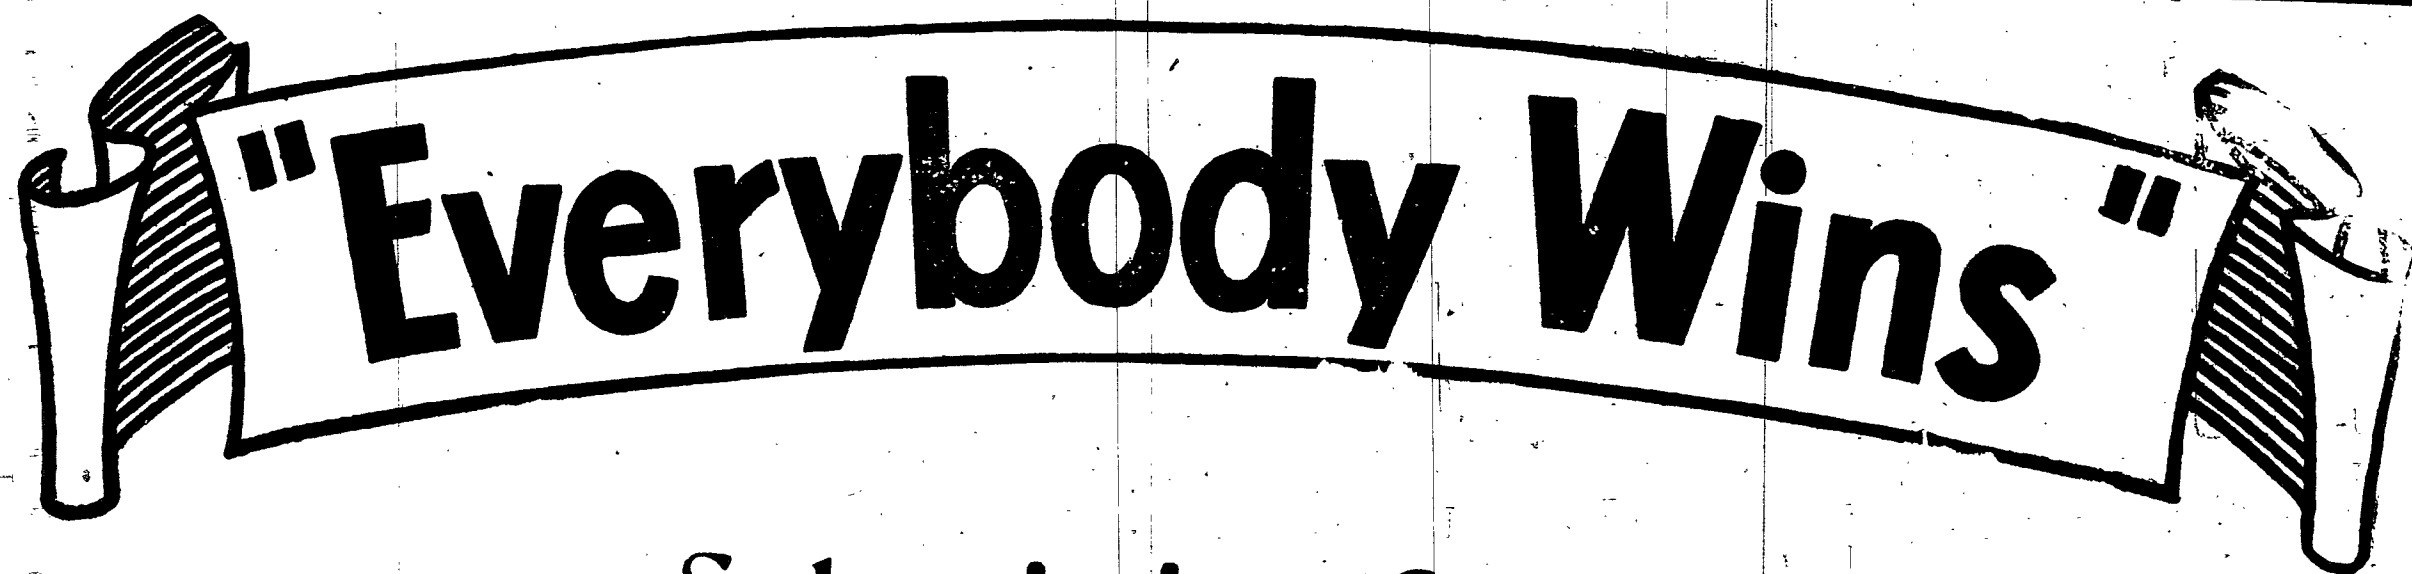

A high school graduate also may choose one of the following branches of the service—Infantry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery, Engineers or the Armored Cavalry—and enlist directly into it.

After completing the required examinations at the local recruiting station, he will be sent to the Jackson Recruiting Main Station for final examination and enlistment, then to Fort Knox, Kentucky, for basic training before beginning service in the branch of his choice.

For further information, high school graduates should contact Sgt. Moore at the Court House, Bay St. Louis on Wednesday.

If standard 7-quart canners of quarts of milk may be pasteurized with one quart jar of water which holds the thermometer. When the thermometer registers 163 degrees F., hold the temperature for one minute, then cool the jars of milk and store in the refrigerator.

This ruling is made in fairness to all contestants and will be adhered to strictly.

AN INVITATION TO CONTEST JUDGES

Members of the Advisory Board, announced in the beginning of contest, are requested to be present at The Gulf Chevrolet — Bay St. Louis shortly before closing hours of race — 12 o'clock high noon, Saturday, July 1st, — for a few simple instructions before making final count and naming winners.

At the stroke of 12 o'clock Noon the contest judges will take charge of sealed ballot box and convey it to the office — where the seal will be broken and contents of box counted and checked.

There will be no waiting or unnecessary formalities, but simply a matter of adding any and all reserve votes and votes due on subscriptions contained in box to the last published vote figures.

It will probably require about an hour's time to count findings in box and determine grand vote totals. Winners will be announced immediately by the judges and the official vote count will be published in the next issue of The Sea Coast Echo.

Your State Health Officer Says

With adequate financial support to the health department, with such new weapons as streptomycin and the B. C. G. Vaccine and recent chest surgical procedures, tuberculosis could be all but a memory in ten years time.

There's new hope for the conquest of rheumatic fever, which annually kills 40,000 Americans. At present we stand before the greatest medical decade in history, promising the control of cancer and of the major part of the great killing diseases of the heart and arteries, and an end to the torture of rheumatoid arthritis. We hope the 1952 Legislature will permit the State Board of Health and the practicing physicians of the State together on these problems. A small amount of appropriated funds is overdue for heart disease control work. Federal funds are available to state funds two dollars to one dollar.

Take Care - Drive Safely

Col T. B. Birdsong and Chief L. C. Hicks, Commanding officers of the Highway Patrol, stated today, "We in the Patrol are going to do everything possible to make the 4th of July Holiday a Deathless Holiday on Mississippi Highways. This is another one of those long holidays beginning Friday midnight June 30 and lasting until July 5th, which is five days. All eaves and vacations have been cancelled for this period and every available officer will be patrolling the highways around the clock in an effort to prevent death and injury."

"SLOW DOWN"
By July 1st all patrol cars will be black. We do not want to make a single arrest, but traffic violations must stop. Speeding has claimed over 100 lives so far this year. We urge you to slow down now. The Patrolman had rather take you to the Judge than to the Morgue.

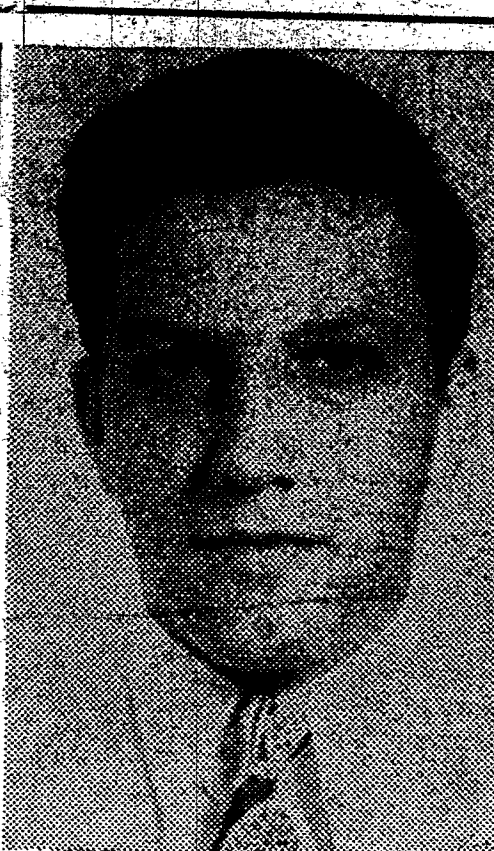

In 1948 for the period July 2 through July 5, the Patrol investigated 32 accidents with six killed and 27 injured. For the same period in 1949—26 accidents investigated with four killed and 24 injured.

For the 4th of July in 1948 there were fifteen accidents reported with one killed, 13 injured. Same day 1949, 13 accidents investigated with one killed and eight injured.

With the cooperation of all motorists and pedestrians, we can have a Deathless Holiday on our highways.

Won't you do your part? The Highway Patrolmen are going to do theirs.

Agriculture Agencies Cooperate Closely

State College, Miss.—Close cooperation among the various agriculture agencies in the counties is not only possible, but is in actual operation in many Mississippi counties. The Pearl River County Coordinating Council is a good example of the cooperation that is possible.

This council formed in 1936 to promote coordination of the work of the various agricultural agencies is composed of representatives from Extension Service, PMA, FHA, SCS, county health department, P.A., the county board of education, vocational agriculture, veteran's instructors, county home demonstration council, the five commissioners of SCS, the three committees of PMA, one farmer elected by each community as a member of the farm and home council and the president of each home demonstration club are invited to attend the monthly meetings of the council.

The council studied the three major phases of agriculture in the county forestry, tung and livestock, including poultry and dairying. Results of these studies along with later developments of the agricultural Experiment Station were placed in the hand of the different agricultural agencies for study.

Some of the accomplishments that can be listed as direct results of the work of this coordinating council according to J. M. Sinclair, Agricultural Extension agent, Poplarville are: organization of the Pearl River livestock association and the purchase of a registered beef and dairy cattle "plantation" herds for 4-H and FFA members.

"One of our boys who started out with 5 producing herd registered Jerseys, Virgil Ladner, now owns a herd of approximately 30 head of producing cows and has carried on a balanced farm and home program in cooperation with his mother and father," the agent stated.

L. Davis, another of the boys helped by the coordinating council, is now, after completing several years in 4-H Club work, a state farmer in FFA. He owns and operates a registered dairy herd of approximately 20 cows.

A full-time forester was employed in cooperation with Extension Service, who has charge of fire protection of some 200,000 acres of land. "It was largely due to the work of this forester and the coordinating council that this past season, 1,045,000 seedlings were planted," said Mr. Sinclair who pointed out that these were mostly slash pine.

Perhaps the greatest single development of the coordinating council has been its pasture program. Approximately 3,000 acres of crimson clover were established with dallis grass, Bermuda grass of fescue on beef and dairy farms, he declared.

DON'T FORGET

Don't forget, the Church Fair for Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic church will be held this Saturday, July 1, and Sunday July 2, on the Stanislaus Back school grounds.

Serecia Ispedeza was seeded on 10,000 acres and approximately 10,000 acres of temporary winter grazing crops consisting of small grains and clovers were planted and utilized the past season.

"While it's true that agricultural development in Pearl River County is in its infancy, a coordinated program of all farm workers based on land-use findings can result in successful farming in this area," the agent said.

"The county Extension agent could not have done the job alone, neither could any other agency. But with all the agencies in the county working together, through their combined efforts, progress has been made."

MRS. REGISTER VISITS SON

Mrs. S. H. Register visited her son, Ryan, in Chipley, Florida, over the weekend. Ryan, who is employed by the Pensacola News Journal, is living in an apartment in Chipley.
